

The Story of California. The Story of You.
Oakland Museum of California

VIVO: DAYS OF THE DEAD

OCTOBER 6–DECEMBER 5, 2010

Volunteer Exhibit Guides Needed!!

This year's Días de los Muertos exhibition explores the tradition's rituals and elements that are used in creating sacred spaces for honoring the dead. The artworks—created by artists, schools, and community groups—honor traditional expressions that are rooted in Meso-American practices, as well as showcase contemporary interpretations of sacred spaces.

Training Session Dates

Sunday, September 19	1–5 p.m. Days of the Dead: The Basics
Sunday, September 26	1–5 p.m. Visual Thinking Strategies, touring techniques & meet artists
Saturday, October 2	1–5 p.m. Walk through with curator Jaime Cortez
Sunday, October 3	1–5 p.m. Tactile aids, practice touring, and meet the artists

Volunteers must be available to lead student tours one day a week for only three hours on Wednesday, Thursday or Friday mornings, October 6–December 5, 2010.

Bilingual Spanish speakers are encouraged to apply.

Please return form below to:

Oakland Museum of California
Education Department/Exhibit Guides
1000 Oak Street, Oakland, CA 94607–4892

You will receive a confirmation phone call.

For more information contact Evelyn Orantes at eorantes@museumca.org or 510/238–3819.

Vivo: Days of the Dead 2010

Name _____ Phone Number _____

Address _____ Zip _____

E-mail _____

Where did you receive this flyer? _____